Eunoia

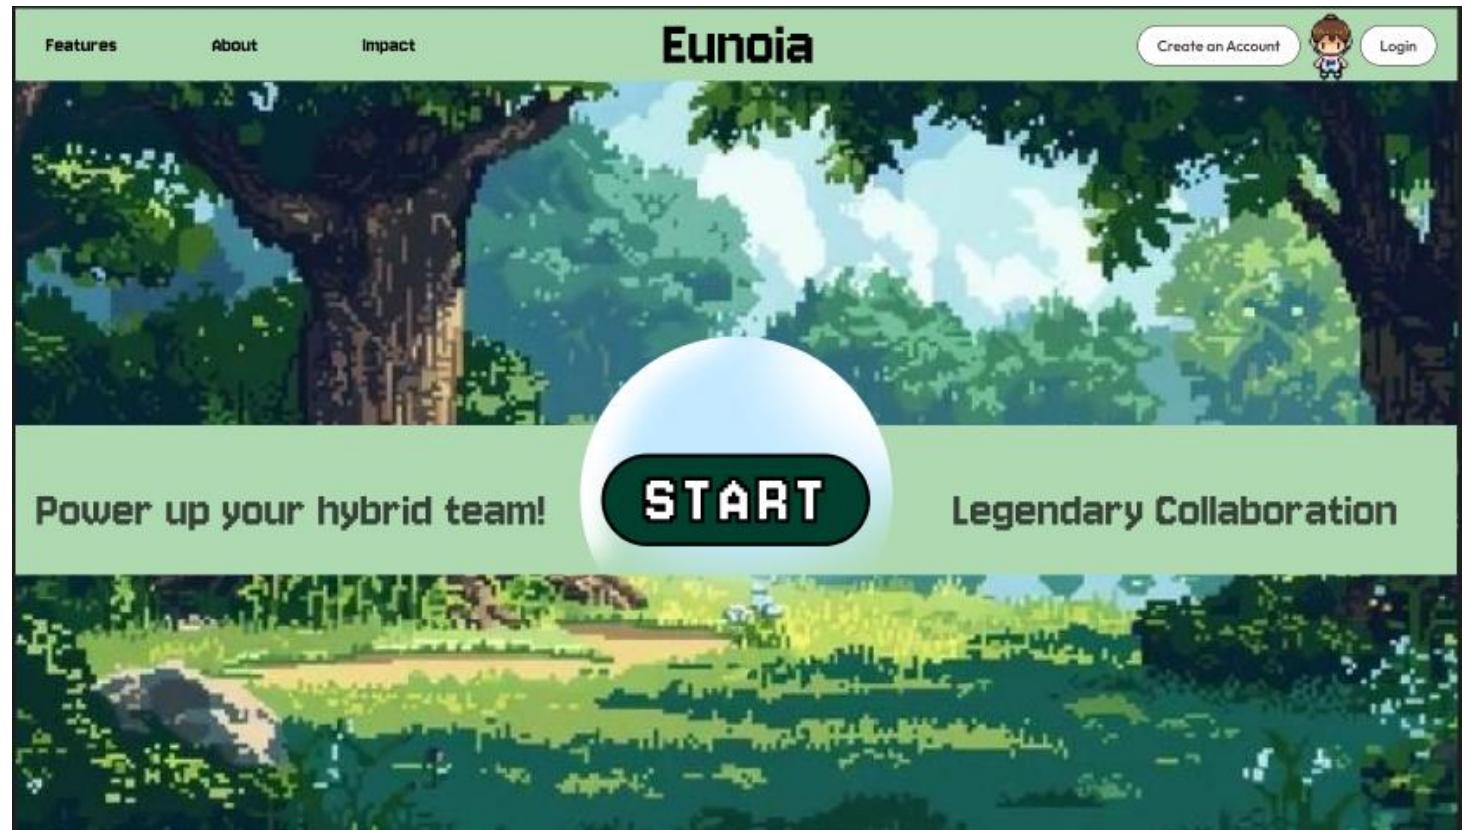

Designing the space that powers you

Created by: Frabina, Zoya, & Ayesha

Overview

Eunoia is a gamified wellness platform that reimagines workplace wellbeing and connection in a fun and interactive way!

Audience and Reason

We designed Eunoia with the new generation of employees in mind! Individuals who are navigating hybrid and remote work environments where creativity and connection are overlooked.

Unlike traditional office setups, the workforce values balance and mental health just as much as productivity and we wanted to bring that online.

Goals

Our goal was to allow employees to express creativity and authenticity in hybrid work environments, especially when burnout and disconnect are increasingly common. We want them to feel supported.

Through secondary research we discovered:

Workers struggle to feel engaged in remote setups

Lack of personalized environment often leads to fatigue and lower productivity.

Diving into Research

A study done by Cisco in 2024 suggests that companies need to modernize their offices. With 81% of employers planning to or already having redesigned their workspace within 24 months, organizations are trying to create environments that prioritize flexibility, collaboration, and employee wellbeing.

While physical spaces are evolving, employees still struggle to feel connected in a hybrid setting. This gap between modernized environments and human centered experiences inspired Eunoia.

Employers are trying to make a change, and we have just the solution!

Design Philosophy

Eunoia was built with full consideration for employees.

We want them to have fun in a space that often demands professionalism and composure. Eunoia provides a place where employees can focus on their wellbeing, express creativity, and reconnect with their authentic selves.

Our goal is to bridge the gap between productivity and personal balance, creating a digital environment that supports both collaboration and self-care.

Bringing Eunoia to Life

Our goal in prototyping was to make Eunoia feel alive, an experience that mirrors the energy of collaboration.

Through hover animations, smooth navigations, gamified interactions, and emotional feedback loops through rewards and positive interactions we designed the perfect interface for companies that want to level up their work environment!

Impact and Evolution

Eunoia doesn't just redesign a workspace - it reimagines how employees feel at work

Aligned with CBRE's focus on smart, human-centered spaces that balance productivity with wellbeing.

Modern workspaces need emotional intelligence built into their tools. Eunoia is a one-of-a-kind interface that blends data with empathy, it's a platform for wellbeing, not metrics.
